HOMEBUYER PROCESS

Buying a home doesn't have to be a difficult process, it's just sometimes difficult to explain because no two transactions are the same.

At Latah Realty, we make it easy. Here's our starter guide. If you've never bought a home before, don't worry! We'll guide you every step of the way.

1 Plan Your Financing

For most buyers, the first step is to meet with a lender and work on getting a loan pre-approval. A lender will help a buyer understand the different loan programs and how much financing they qualify for. (See lender list pages 9-10)

2 Look for Homes

The agents at Latah Realty will find out what a buyer's needs are and show them homes for sale that match those needs.

3 Choose a Home

Negotiation

Latah Realty agents are experts in negotiation. Their job is to advise buyers and guide them through the real estate transaction. No two real estate transactions are the same.

Earnest Money

Earnest Money is presented by the buyer with the purchase and sale agreement. This money is held in escrow and goes towards the buyer's closing costs

Entering Into a Contract

Once an offer on a property has been made by a buyer and accepted by the seller, they enter into a legal contract known as a Purchase and Sale Agreement (PSA). That document outlines the specific terms and conditions of the transaction and is signed by both parties. This document is the written instructions between the parties as to how the transaction will be carried out. (See the RE-21 Purchase and Sales Agreement, pages 19-25)

Home Inspection Time Frame

After entering into a Purchase and Sale Agreement, the buyer can hire a home inspector (or other professionals if desired) to investigate and note the condition of the property (see home inspector list page 7-8). The home inspector works only for the buyer, and checks items such as the roof, basement, heating system, water heater, air-conditioning system, structure, plumbing, and electrical. Buyers then have the option to attempt further negotiation with the sellers of any needed repairs or ask for concessions. This is also the time when a buyer can have any other questions answered about the property or the transaction, and confirm eligibility for the property to receive homeowners insurance coverage. After the inspection time frame has expired or been waived, in most cases the ability to rescind the purchase and sales agreement ends (except for circumstances reserved in the sales agreement).

4 Close on the Home

Title Insurance

The buyer and their lender will receive a report detailing the property history to ensure there are no legal encumbrances on record between the new owner and the property being purchased. (See title companies list page 7-8)

Escrow

When the offer is accepted and the closing date is agreed upon, escrow allows the buyer and the seller to have an outside party ensure all parts of the contract are complete. The purchase and sale agreement is the written instructions to the title company as to how the contract will be carried out.

Closing

At closing, the closing documents are signed by the buyer and seller, both parties pay any settlement fees and the documents are recorded at the county courthouse. Closing is defined as when the funds are available to the seller and the deed is recorded at the courthouse conveying the home to the buyer.

AVERAGE TRANSACTION

The average transaction is 45 days. Here's the breakdown of an average 45 day transaction from the date of acceptance:

Day 1

Purchase and sales agreement accepted, preliminary title policy is ordered by listing agent, buyer schedules home inspection date.

Day 10

Inspection complete and any negotiations for repairs are complete. Buyer provides to seller a loan commitment letter from their lender.

Day 11

Appraisal is ordered

Day 25

Appraisal is complete and received by the lender.

Day 30

Any additional conditions requested by the underwriter are known.

Day 35

Additional underwriting conditions are met.

Day 40

Lender and Title Co. prepare preliminary closing documents, buyer and seller sign when closing documents are ready.

Day 45

Closing - the property and funds transfer between buyer and seller. The deed is recorded. Buyer can pick up keys and move in!

HELPFUL TIPS

Don't

do anything that will affect your credit. When you get ready to buy a new home, you want stability in your finances. No new major purchases, INCLUDING CREDIT CARD PURCHASES, during this time unless you've talked through it with your lender. Don't drain your bank account.

Don't

change jobs, even if it's for a better or higher paying job. Again, discuss this with your lender before you seriously consider it if you're planning on buying a home.

Don't

make large bank deposits that are out of the ordinary, they can be red flags. Again, stability in your finances is the key.

Do

keep paying all of your normal bills, as usual. Also, it is okay to make regular purchases (i.e. food), no need to starve!

Do

make sure you are committed to purchasing the property. The inspection is your time to make sure that there's absolutely nothing that will change your mind about buying the home. If you have doubts for any reason about the property or the transaction, this is the time to explore them and make sure ALL of your questions are answered before proceeding further.

Agency Disclosure Brochure

A Consumer Guide to Understanding Agency Relationships in Real Estate Transactions

Duties owed to Idaho consumers by a real estate brokerage and its licensees are defined in the "Idaho Real Estate Brokerage Representation Act." Idaho Code 54-2082 through 54-2097.

This informational brochure is published by the Idaho Real Estate Commission.

Effective July 1, 2015

Right Now You Are a Customer

"Agency" is a term used in Idaho law that describes the relationships between a licensee and the parties to a real estate transaction.

Idaho law says a real estate brokerage and its licensees owe the following "Customer" duties to all consumers in real estate transactions:

- Perform necessary and customary acts to assist you in the purchase or sale of real estate;
- Perform these acts with honesty, good faith, reasonable skill and care;
- Properly account for money or property you place in the care and responsibility of the brokerage; and
- Disclose all "adverse material facts" which the licensee knows or reasonably should have known. These are facts that would significantly affect the desirability or value of the property to a reasonable person, or facts establishing a reasonable belief that one of the parties cannot, or does not intend to, complete obligations under the contract.

If you are a Customer, a real estate licensee is not required to promote your best interests or keep your bargaining information confidential. If you use the services of a licensee and brokerage without a written Representation (Agency) Agreement, you will remain a Customer throughout the transaction.

A Compensation Agreement is a written contract that requires you to pay a fee for a specific service provided by a brokerage, and it is not the same as a Representation Agreement. If you sign a Compensation Agreement, you are still a Customer, but the brokerage and its licensees owe one additional duty:

- Be available to receive and present written offers and counter-offers to you or from you.

You May Become a Client

If you want a licensee and brokerage to promote your best interests in a transaction, you can become a "Client" by signing a Buyer or Seller Representation (Agency) Agreement. A brokerage and its licensees will owe you the following Client duties, which are greater than the duties owed to a Customer:

- Perform the terms of the written agreement;
- Exercise reasonable skill and care;
- Promote your best interests in good faith, honesty, and fair dealing;
- Maintain the confidentiality of your information, including bargaining information, even after the representation has ended;
- Properly account for money or property you place in the care and responsibility of the brokerage;
- Find a property for you or a buyer for your property, and assist you in negotiating an acceptable price and other terms and conditions for the transaction;
- Disclose all "adverse material facts" which the licensee knows or reasonably should have known, as defined above; and
- Be available to receive and present written offers and counter-offers to you or from you.

A "Sold" price of property is not confidential client information, for either buyers or sellers, and may be disclosed by a licensee.

The above Customer or Client duties are required by law, and a licensee cannot agree with you to modify or eliminate any of them.

If you sign a Representation Agreement or Compensation Agreement with a licensee, the contract is actually between you and the licensee's brokerage. The Designated Broker is the only person authorized to modify or cancel a brokerage contract.

These Are Your Agency Options

Agency Representation (Single Agency)

Under "Agency Representation" (sometimes referred to as "Single Agency"), you are a Client and the licensee is your Agent who represents you, and only you, in your real estate transaction. The entire brokerage is obligated to promote your best interests. No licensee in the brokerage is allowed to represent the other party to the transaction.

If you are a seller, your Agent will seek a buyer to purchase your property at a price and under terms and conditions acceptable to you, and assist with your negotiations. If you request it in writing, your Agent will seek reasonable proof of a prospective purchaser's financial ability to complete your transaction.

If you are a buyer, your Agent will seek a property for you to purchase at an acceptable price and terms, and assist with your negotiations. Your Agent will also advise you to consult with appropriate professionals, such as inspectors, attorneys, and tax advisors. If disclosed to all parties in writing, a brokerage may also represent other buyers who wish to make offers on the same property you are interested in purchasing.

Limited Dual Agency

"Limited Dual Agency" means the brokerage and its licensees represent both the buyer and the seller as Clients in the same transaction. The brokerage must have both the buyer's and seller's consent to represent both parties under Limited Dual Agency. You might choose Limited Dual Agency because you want to purchase a property listed by the same brokerage, or because the same brokerage knows of a buyer for your property. There are two kinds of Limited Dual Agency:

Without Assigned Agents The brokerage and its licensees are Agents for both Clients equally and cannot advocate on behalf of one Client over the other. None of the licensees at the brokerage can disclose confidential information about either Client. The brokerage must otherwise promote the non-conflicting interests of both Clients, perform the terms of the Buyer and Seller Representation Agreements with skill and care, and other duties required by law.

With Assigned Agents The Designated Broker may assign individual licensees within the brokerage ("Assigned Agents") to act solely on behalf of each Client. An Assigned Agent has a duty to promote the Client's best interests, even if those interests conflict with the interests of the other Client, including negotiating a price. An Assigned Agent must maintain the Client's confidential information. The Designated Broker is always a Limited Dual Agent for both Clients and ensures the Assigned Agents fulfill their duties to their respective Clients.

What to Look For in Any Written Agreement with a Brokerage

A Buyer or Seller Representation Agreement or Compensation Agreement should answer these questions:

- How will the brokerage get paid?
- When will this agreement expire?
- What happens to this agreement when a transaction is completed?
- Can I cancel this agreement, and if so, how?
- Can I work with other brokerages during the time of my agreement?
- What happens if I buy or sell on my own?
- Under an Agency Representation Agreement, am I willing to allow the brokerage to represent both the other party and me in my real estate transaction?

Real Estate Licensees Are Not Inspectors Unless you and a licensee agree in writing, a brokerage and its licensees are not required to conduct an independent inspection of a property or verify the accuracy or completeness of any statements or representations made regarding a property. To learn about the condition of a property, you should obtain the advice of an appropriate professional, such as a home inspector, engineer, or surveyor.

This information is usually provided to the homeowner to help them establish a fair market selling price or it may be given to a prospective purchaser to help guide them in a proper offer to make the owner. Default -

Failure to make mortgage payments as agreed to in a commitment based on the terms and at the designated time set forth in the mortgage or deed of trust. It is the mortgagor's responsibility to remember the due date and send the payment prior to the due date, not after. Generally, thirty days after the due date if payment is not received, the mortgage is in default. In the event of default, the mortgage may give the lender the right to accelerate payments, take possession and receive rents, and start foreclosure. Defaults may also come about by the failure to observe other conditions in the mortgage or deed of trust.

The down-payment may not be refundable if the purchaser fails to buy the property without good cause. If the purchaser wants the down-payment to be refundable, he should insert a clause in the agreement of sale specifying the conditions under which the deposit will be refunded, if the agreement does not already contain such clause. If the seller cannot deliver good title, the agreement of sale usually requires the seller to return the down-payment and to pay interest and expenses incurred by the purchaser.

EEarnest Money -
